'Offensive' mag aid upsets councillors

Members of Salop County Council are furious that public money is indirectly helping a controversial magazine circulating in Telford. But the producers of Guttersnipe — described by councillors as "decadent and offensive" — have defended it as a valid and worthwhile expression of young people's views.

Guttersnipe, which has been selling on the streets for 15p, has been brought out by a group of teenagers aged between 15 and 18 with the help of a schoolteacher and another adult. They pay for it to be printed by grant-aided Telford Community Arts, which has provided printing facilities for more than 100 groups over the past year.

The first issue is mainly filled with articles attacking unemployment and racism, and the National Front.

Police probe magazine articles

Telford police are investigating a Madley district magazine because of complaints of the language used in it.

Called Guttersnipe the magazine is in support of an anti-Nazi campaign and also contains articles by local young people.

"This magazine has been brought to our attention by a letter from a parent of a child at Sutton Hill school," said Brian Chadwell, head of South Telford police said yesterday.

Mr Dennis Edwards, headmaster of the school, said he had told police of his concern about the language but had not made a formal complaint.

Interview

The bad language including four letter words contained in an interview with a youth that he thought of Sutton Hill.

"I am not so concerned about the language used, as the way the magazine is written," he said.

The magazine was printed by Telford Community Arts, but no one from the group which contacted it could be contacted for comment.

No copies of the magazine appeared to be available in the Sutton Hill school.

Telford punk mag runs into row over four letter language

MR DENNIS EDWARDS
Complained

Police are believed to be investigating a punk rock magazine published in the Madley district and featuring articles written by local youths.

Four hundred copies of Guttersnipe have gone on sale to young people in South Telford. The magazine carries anti-Nazi propaganda and an article containing many four-letter words, about Sutton Hill's infamous graffiti wall.

It was printed by Telford Community Arts, although they were not involved with the group who published it.

But Mr Dennis Edwards, headmaster of the Alexander Fleming Junior School at Sutton Hill, said yesterday he was appalled at the foul language used in Guttersnipe. He said he had mentioned his concern to the police but had not made a formal complaint.

But the police were understood to have collected copies of the magazine from Sutton Hill for inspection this week.

Mr Edwards, who was shown the magazine by his 16-year-old daughter, said he was not worried about the content of the magazine but was upset by the language.

"I am worried in case this magazine gets into the local schools. I am appalled by the language used in the article about Sutton Hill," he explained.

"I have to set the standard of literature that I like to see in school and this certainly does not come anywhere near that. A lot of the content is probably very good but I can't see any relevance in the language which is used."

Rev John Fagan, Curate at Sutton Hill, said he would be warning other local clergymen about Guttersnipe on Monday. He described the magazine as "misplaced talent."

"I just feel rather sorry that a magazine which has something interesting to say should say it in this way," he explained.

Mr Fagan admitted that he was worried about the magazine being read by children.

Graham Fost, who helped to print the magazine, claimed that most of the bad language appeared in a written interview with a local youth and the publishers felt it wrong to censor it.

"You would expect there to be only a fairly minority interest in it. It is for a certain section of the community, as a magazine has the right to be," he explained.

It is not very often that people get a chance to listen to a fairly considered discourse about life in Telford from somebody of this sort of generation.

Mr Fost added that he understood the publishers intended to produce further issues of Guttersnipe.

"The ?@ little *?@*s ought to keep their !@ months shut until they're ?!!@ old enough to join the silent majority"

The tact unless used counter-pr

The publishers of Guttersnipe, the lively and adventurous magazine which appeared in south Telford recently, will have prevented people from reading the article.

Mo just w print time-consuming ways of achieving that end than publishing a magazine.

The magazine deserves to carry on and serve the fairly close group at which it is aimed. It certainly gives a voice to a group who are not going to use this, or any other newspaper.

Clash preview of the forthcoming Clash album sleeve designed by Conservative Studios

We enjoy playing — doing a good performance. It doesn't really matter who the audience is — we just like to feel we've done a good performance, played well, and they enjoyed it. The boys feel really down when it hasn't gone well. We usually play in colleges and places like that, but we've just had a really good tour in Holland.

I play keyboards and write most of the lyrics. Errol (that's Sly — Junior), he's the best drummer there is. Alan (Kingpin) is lead singer, — always full of ideas and Seal sings as well, and writes some lyrics. There's Junior on bass guitar, Benjamin on lead and Chiki on rhythm. We usually sing songs that can apply to anyone, not just strictly Rasta or any thing. We really appreciate people coming to tell us what they think of the band. We want to play in really big halls, a big name, were all looking forward to that.

BENJAMIN ON RASTA for

"I believe in it, but believing and doing is different things. I might not get accepted in Africa. Africa is not my home. My seed is from Africa, you understand, but my home is Jamaica. A Rasta is a pure man, religious, a peaceful man. You don't need dreadlocks to be a Rasta. The natty dreads and the dreadlocks are just vaggonin'. Them corrupt, evil. A Rasta, right, would not steal. A Natty dread might have four or five girls, but a Rasta has just one woman, builds a family and looks to his plantation. Some people say a Rasta is not clean, but he is cleaner than us. I smoke 'erb and meditate. Some artists are true Rastas. Burning Spear is a real Rasta. Some like Reggae. But most just play bongos. You watch, the dreads will snip off their locks, and go back to what them was. They can't cross the divide, you understand.

The Manager on a record deal.

We're working on certain people coming up with the money. After Christmas. I can't tell you who we'll sign with, its competitive with other bands. But it won't be Virgin. No way.

The Manager on Slickness.

Blacks don't like to have their skin hurt. I believe flog them.

But it just makes them more hard. There are only a certain amount of jobs. To change all that you need a revolution but I'm not into that right now. My ambition is to get the band to Madison Square Gardens.

You just want to be rich.

If I wanted to have a Holla Royce there are ways. You can get anything if you really want it. A girl could sell herself four or five times a night. The band are real musicians, they will make it.

BENJAMIN ON N.F.

Them corrupt. They just want power. If they get power, you and me, we finished. But they won't get it.

Benjamin on Zimbabwe (Rhodesia)

I believe they have to fight for their rights. If you are oppressed, you can't live. The Whites know they're wrong, but they can't admit it. They must give black men more privileges. They must treat him more human.

THIS ISSUE GUTTERSNIFE TALKED TO 2 VIRGINS - DIANE + JANE! WE COULDN'T FIND A BOY WHO'D

How much do you know about sex?

- D. I thought I knew a lot until I found this book in her cousins I had to put it down, I felt sick.
J. I thought it was a good laugh.

What kind of book was it?

- D+J 3 women and they all told a story like. One made her living doing blue movies and that.
D. I could'nt imagine anybody I know....licking and sucking, thats O.K, but going on about....

At school, how did people talk about sex?

- D+J Our mates bragged about it. "... Reckoned she'd done it 9 times one night. Is that possible? (Yeah)
J. Silly Cow. She could'nt sit next day.
D. Its funny-If a lad knows you'r willin' they call you a slag.

DID you get sex education at school?

- J. Yeah a couple of crappy sex lessons. We saw how johnnies were made.

Are you on the Pill?

- D. No. No need, is there?
J. I would'nt mind,...but you can get cancer and that.

What are you gonna do when you have sex?

- D. I would'nt do it without a johnnie.

You call your selves virgins.

What do you mean?

- J. You have'nt had a s. g. You can do anything else - so long as you don't have a s. g.

Have you got in a situation where you've had to say no?

- D. I've had to say no because i didn't want to. Not because i was scared.

So how far do you go?

- D+J A w. k. and a feel. They want you to w. k. them. When they start pulling you against them, you know they want you to do it.
J. Half the time they get the zip down for you.

Do you feel embarrassed?

- D. Yeah. I feel a bloody fool its so casual.
J. I don't care. But i hate them feeling me tit.
D. I like gettin' felt.

- J. My most embarrassing moment was when i was 9. I had to sleep with me dad cause me mum slept with me sister who had pneumonia and me dad was rubbing his d. k up against me. I didn't know what to do. My mum blames it on page 3. She think's he's over sexed. And i hate me mum coming in when I've just got me bra and knickers on.
D. And me.

Are most girls your age virgins?

- D. No I think we're unusual.
J. I don't know how I'll have it, You can't say. If i had it with a lad I'd just met, he'd be using me.

So why are you virgins?

- D. I've neva been asked.
J. I have but not by anybody I would. "...." Yeah. He's asked everybody.

So you would'nt do it with just any body?

- J. Oh no. Since new wave came in. I've gone off smoothies an that. I would'nt go with a lad unless he was a skin or a punk or a ted. Not a bloody bloody greaser though Ugh.
D. Or just a bit different.

Is it just the image then?

- J. It's the tight trousers, the bulges.
D. That's the first thing we look at. If a lad's got pink hair - or prox - ide - or tight trousers on - I'd go with him. Would'nt matter what he looked like Not if it was dark.

Do you intend to have sex?

- J. Oh Yeah. I don't wanna go out with a lad serious like - all sloppy and romantic - I just wanna be s. g. ed.

Why do you want to have sex? Is it pressure from other people?

- D+J. No. Curiosity. We're dying to have it it.. When i was with that mod If he'd said. Oh Yeah, he could have. But the group came on first.

About boys - do they like girls to be virgins?

- D. Oh Yeah. They like it.
J. Sometimes they go off. But if they're serious - they like to break you in.

What do you expect to feel?

- J. I'M not expecting an orgasm.
D. I'm shit scared to tell you the truth. Embarrassment. Agony.
J. Yeah. I'm expecting to have it the first time and not want it again. But we're sixteen and still bloody virgins I feel bloody stupid.

Are many of the lads you know of 16 VIRGINS? All the boys i know say they're not?

- J. All the lads that we're in my class they went on about sex but half of them had'nt even fingered a wench. It depends if they're slag hunters or just ordinary lads.

What do you mean by slag - hunters?

- D. They're just after what they can get. I don't think its because they really need it. Its because they think they - 're big.

Do you think its fair calling girls Because they have sex?

- J. Fair play to girls who go out with lads who look nice. But not everybody. Like "...." She's been letting boys play with her since she was 10 and she's still like it.
D. When i was 10 i would neva have thought of touching people down there.
J. I've done things like show me bum like you do when you're a kid.
What turns you on?
L. Sex on the telly turns me on.

Do you have fantasies?

- J. Oh Yeah. Johnny Rotten, Joe Strummer, Sid Vicious, Paul Simonon.

Why does Johnny Rotten turn you on and John Travolta doesn't?

- J. He's Yeuk. I've often thought about it.
D. A couple of years ago I would'nt have liked spiky hair.
J. I can't stand soft looking boys. A lad with a few bristles oh god! I think of all the things i could do do with them. I dresm't i was in a library and this lad was running his hands up an down me or a thing down my neck. I dunno if it was an orgasm but it was nice. Some dreams are so real i think Oh Shit! that i've got hold of me dad or something.

Will a punk make a good husband?

- J. Oh I dunno. I ain't gettin' married Seriously?
D+J Yeah. Could'nt be tied down.
D. I do'nt want kids.
J. I think I'll stick to it. I could -'nt live in a house with kids and do housework all day. I'm gonna live in a right smelly hole and eat fish and chips.

Are you just into relationships with boys?

- D. I've got nothing against lesbians. If one came up to speak to me I would'nt think she was trying to pick me up or anything. But the lads are really against queers.
J. When i was younger i used to think I'd kick a lesbian - I would'nt now. I think I'm maturing.

Are these things at the moment more important to you than sex?

- D+J We wanna get to know punks. Not sex - just friends.

Great night! the local lads playing their local boozers everybody in a good mood - the scene is set. The band have improved a lot since I last saw them, especially Steve on Sax, which is vital for the development of the band; giving them a refreshing variety from many ordinary 3-chord bashes. Martin on guitar is tremendous; Keith and the bass keep the rythm section ticking over nicely and of course everyone loves the eccentric vocalist! So 40 mins of spilt beer, frantic pogoing a raging encore - lovely stuff!

I was in Brighton for the joint lobby of the T.U.C. by the right to work campaign and the civil servants union CPSA. This was the culmination of 5 days on the road for the RTW marcers. Basically the march was to remind the bureaucrats at the TUC that there are 1,600,000 people gettin bored n' angry on the dole and that they want something done about it NOW. Cuz the trade union movement has the power to force the government and employers to create jobs and work for us all-by such steps as the 35hr week-remember there's 10 million in the TUC. As for the CPSA, they are in almost the same dilemma as the unemployed -being one of the worst payed sets of workers in the country -they are lobbying against this 5% pay limit -which is no fucking good at all. We joined the swelling mass of demonstrators outside the conference hall at mid-day, just as the delegates were going off for lunch.

Why is it that most of so called representatives of the working-classes in Britain look and behave like upper-class Tory landowners, sticking their noses in the air not bothering to give a sympathetic ear to our protests, read our leaflets or even have a chat with us. Just shows how Socialist the TUC is.

Talking to two punkette's in the street who had been on the road since satday mornin said "It was the most amazing thing we've been on." "The spirit of everyone has been really great. When Misty were playin in Brixton, People were just running out of their house's and joining us. On nonday night, Tom Robinson played an acoustic set under the oak tree on the camp site."

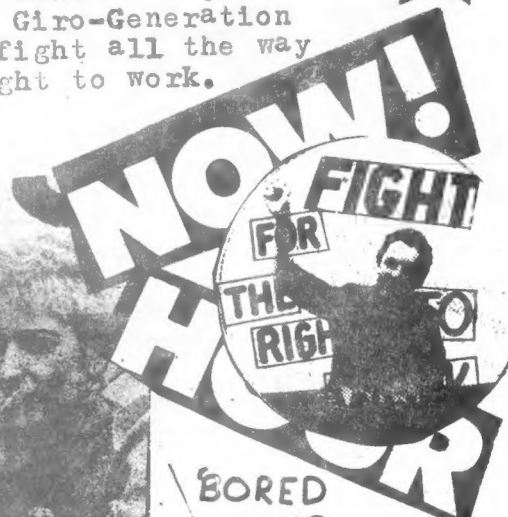

Of course, the Old Bill had to have their say in the proceedings-after a long series of attempt's to persecute the marchers, they finally settled for the ultimate tactic-starvation! An R.T.W. marcher said, "We was giving out sandwiche's for dinner when out of nowhere the police arrived and suddenly steamed into the queue with * horses, arrested the driver, and drove off." Paul LIVESEY, an A.N.L. supporter from Cardiff said, "I was on the lorry, getting some food, when these bastard pig's pulled me off ripping me orange jacket i in half, they've been hassling us all the time and waiting for the right time to get uz." It was another diabolical case of police harassment and brutality-unfortunately an all too often occurrence in 1978.

They got the lorry back later and were able to have dinner at half three. Had a bit of a larf on the beach and then set out on the long trek home. The whole event had been an unqualified success, the marcher's made their way home, tired, weary but happy and C.P.S.A. must have been pleased with the impressive turnout. So just watch out coz we a'int gonna stop here-it's just the start, the Giro-Generation are gonna fight all the way for the right to work.

FOOTNOTE

Just cause me and me mate signed on a day late (cause we were in Brighton) they delayed our Giro for six day's.

Wire

The Tuesday night slot at Barbarella's Brum. The band - Wire, one of the truly original acts to graduate from the chaos & spillover of the Rock.

Like Siouxsie & the Banshees, who share their riveting almost hypnotic impact, they have outgrown their amateurish beginnings to achieve a considerable level of musical ability.

After cutting their teeth as shambling and largely derided support to 'The Tubes' in their 1977 tour, they have worked to give their act an impact that is match by very few other bands.

Sadly, their latest LP, Chairs Missing, gives very little clue to their live performances. Compared with the brilliant Pink Flag, the sound is muddled and lacks the steely edge of the first LP.

The true quality of its songs, however, was evident at this performance, for much of the set was from the new LP.

When delivered by Colin Newman, with his customary intensity, staring out the audience like an accusing God's head on a fishmonger's slab, jerking his limbs with cramped gestures like a demented puppet, songs like 'I Feel Mystical Today' and 'Planned' remain etched on the memory long afterwards.

The set officially ended with 'Practice Makes Perfect' and as with the well-known Vodka, the effect was shattering.

Two well deserved encores unfortunately ended with a scraggy version of 'I Am the Fly'. A pity, for this was by popular demand and should not have been performed as though the band are in a hurry to catch the train back to London.

Evenings as good as this should never end with an anti-climax.

but how would you like to work for 2 years and not get a penny. Stiff never pay anyone"

Pat then thanked Brian James for not appearing.

The evening was marred by an unresponsive audience, or as Pat said, "a lousy audience." Future plans? A new single soon and it won't be Stiff. "We've got an L.P. of numbers we haven't played tonight."

About Brian James, "Brian left - you should ask him why - I hear he's playing with the Adverts now."

What is the band called now? "Well it's spelt DOOMED and pronounced DAMNED."

Speaking as a him time delegate to the TUC
I can say that it is a "TOTAL STITCH UP"

Our opposition to Stage 4 has been absorbed into a wishy-washy motion which says f k all as always.

We want decent wages

We want socialism.

IT TAKES A LONG TIME TO GET DANN SARE,
THE ARCHWAY!

Dear Gutteren:pe,

We started from St Mike's at 7.30pm Sunday morning in a super get you there Arch Way motor. When our traction engine got to St. Mick's it looked as though it was out of the stone age. But in spite of the look of the coach it did have seats, so we all clambered on and started off for LONDON.
I didn't no there was a service station on the way to Shifnal but we stopped. Some guy shouted (Oh shit) we've broke down so lets go catch dinner lads.
Then I looked out of the window and seen some guy with his legs wide open under our coach. But finally it started again and got in just outside of Shifnal and we had another brake down.
So we all got out of the coach and decided to start the march there and then but he was just (p'les'in) around so they sent in another coach a and that actually got in to Sh'fnal and it was only 11.00 pm the time

we should have been in London.

And then we got two mini buses and we was rippen along the motor way and the tread on the back of mini bus ripped half way round the wheel.
And so we had to stop and fix it and I thought to my self now all we've got to blow up or at 3.15pm and we'd mis'ed
the march so we went and got something to eat and started to watch the krap't up concert.
And then a speaker came on the mike and informed us that 1,200 BP guys
where up at BRICK LANE and could he have some supporters to go up to the ANTI NAZI LEAGUE

but there was no trouble
so the carnival carried on peacefully and so this is the end of my personal opinion of the ARCH WAY COACHES TOUR OF MADELEY AND SHIFNAL.

Wayne Burton.
